

THE BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN.

VOLUME IX. NO. 38.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, JANUARY 23, 1892.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

Township Committee Meeting.

THIS FOR THE STREET LIGHTING SERVICE, WHICH SHALL BE GAS, ELECTRIC LIGHT, CARBON OIL, OR KEROSENE.

The advertisement for bids for the street lighting service of this town brought several responses, and the Committee now have their choice of a variety of methods of street illumination.

The Montclair Gas & Water Company, which has furnished the town with gas for several years past, presented a bid slightly reducing the price of the previous year. The Company offer to furnish gas for 550 lights to burn until 12 o'clock midnight, for $14.35 per lamp per annum, and until one o'clock A. M. for $16.20 per lamp.

The Newark Electric Light & Power Company, a well-known Company, which supplies the City of Newark and illuminates the village of Irvington with incandescent electric lights, put in the following bid based on a five year contract:

16 Candle Power.	20 C. P.	25 C. P.
To 12 M., $14.50	$16.50	$18.50
To 1 A. M., 15.00	17.00	19.00
All night, 16.50	18.50	20.50

Superintendent Philip N. Jackson, of the Newark Company was present, and was interrogated by the Committee on matters relating to electric lighting. He said that an advantage of the electric system was that all the lights in the town were put in operation at once, and the system was free from burners and dirty lanterns, and the light was not affected by storms. He said that if his Company got the contract, they would supply the current from their works in Newark, the same as they furnished the supply at Irvington. The lamps he said would be direct incandescent poles 25 feet high would be used, and the lamp suspended from armature attached to the pole. He said against the use of the present iron lamp posts for electric purposes. There was a danger of their being charged with electricity, which fact Mr. Selbert suggested might result seriously to any one who climbed a post to read the street sign. Mr. Jackson invited the Committee to inspect the system in operation in Irvington.

The Essex County Electric Lighting Company of Orange, was represented by Mr. Lindsey and put in the following bid:

30 C. P. Light.	25 C. P. Light.
To 12 M., $15.00	$18.00
To 1 A. M., 14.50	17.00
All night, 22.50	24.00

The Wheeler Reflector & Lighting Co., had an agent present, who put in a bid and explained his system to the Committee, and claimed superior power for it, over incandescent electric lighting. He offered two varieties of lamps, one a carbon oil lamp and the other a self generating naphtha lamp. He requested permission to give a public exhibition of his system in the town. The bid for the carbon oil lamp was as follows:

One Year Contract. Three Year Contract.
To 12 M., $15.50	$12.50
To 1 A. M., 14.50	13.50
All Night, 17.50	16.50

Self Generating Naphtha System.
One Year Contract. Three Year Contract.
To 12 M., $15.00

To 1 A. M., 14.00	$11.00
All Night, 21.00	20.00

The Newark Electric Light & Power Co. was the only one of the competitors that named a price for a cent per ampere meter measure. This, Mr. Jackson explained was equivalent to gas at $2.00 per 1,000 feet.

The Committee entered into a discussion as to the advisability of laying the bids over until after the spring election, or of acting upon them at once. It was finally decided to hold a special meeting on the 29th inst., at which the various bids will be considered.

MR. FREDERICK PULLMAN'S ALLEGATION.
Mr. Frederick Pullman, who owns property at the corner of Spruce street and Monroe Place, alleges that as a taxpayer, he is being unjustly treated at the hands of the Road Committee. Mr. Pullman has appeared before the Town Committee several times, endeavoring to have some repairs made to the streets in front of his property, which he alleges are in a very bad condition and impeding for vehicles. Mr. Pullman spoke his mind very freely on Monday night, and directly charged the Road Committee with ignoring his request. He was assured by Mr. Selbert that the matter would receive immediate attention.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

Mr. John Suffer appeared before the Town Committee on Monday night, as he alleged for the first time in 28 years, Mr. Suffer desired to know who owned the triangular piece of property in front of the Seminary building. His reason for requesting the information was to fix the responsibility for the neglect to clean the snow from the sidewalks there.

A communication from Jacob Fornoff read at the Town Committee meeting on Monday night informed the committee that Mr. Fornoff wanted the $10 refunded that he paid for a vendor's license.

Mr. A. H. Olmsted of the firm of Olmsted & Cady had present engaged in the East Jersey Water Company's office at Montclair in revising and correcting the voluminous data comprised in the field notes of the engineers and surveyors employed by the Company in the work of constructing its mammoth reservoirs and pipeline. The field notes contained in about sixty books are to be reduced to two or three. Mr. Olmsted is very familiar with all the details of that great piece of engineering.

Seminary Notes.

The Lion German Presbyterian Church, whose edifice on East 40th Street, New York, was burned last week, has for its pastor, Rev. F. E. Voegelin, who was graduated from our German Seminary in 1875.

It is better to build up than to burn down, and Rev. John Richardson, who was in the same class here with Mr. Voegelin, has just completed and dedicated the renovation of his church in Philadelphia. The "Presbyterian" of that city says: "The enlarged church edifice of the German Presbyterian Church on Corinthian avenue, was formally dedicated last Sabbath. The church has been almost entirely reconstructed of Avondale stone and will now seat between four and five hundred persons. The sermon on Sabbath morning was delivered by Rev. Dr. Henry W. Sobert of Bloomfield, N. J. The cost of the improvement was about $15,000. Mr. Richardson has been the only pastor of this church, and he has done his work with great faithfulness and intelligence, building up gradually the largest German Presbyterian congregation in the city."

Rev. Arnold W. Flamer of the class of 1883, now pastor of the Hopkins Street German Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, has just published in German a handsome Christian family "Kalendar" devoted to the interests of the German Presbyterian Church. Besides the Alumni-portion and a number of photographs, it has excellent cuts of pastor Richardson's Church and Lion's German Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, founded by another graduate, articles by Rev. Julius H. Wolff of Newark (class of 1874) and Dr. Henry W. Sobert (class of 1875). Dr. Philip Schaaf and Dr. George W. Sobert, a foreign mission letter from "Under German Palms" in the Kamerun Country, Africa, from Rev. George J. Goldhahn, (class of 1890). "End Peace" a poem by Dr. Rudolph (class of 1875). Hoboken, an admirable picture of a sketch of the foundation period of the Seminary's life. Mr. Flamer proposes to make this an annual calendar. If he does as well in future years as he has done this year he will make it an attractive feature of church and seminary life.

Should the Town Supply the Books?
To the Citizens:—Children who attend the public schools of this town, if they are so disposed and their parents are able to afford it, can acquire an excellent common school education. Their tuition is attended to by an able corps of teachers. The management of the schools is in the hands of an excellent board of trustees. It is, however, one great cause of complaint against the public school system of this town, and it is making itself felt more frequently as the system of common school education becomes more comprehensive. It is the question of the cost of text books.

Families in indigent circumstances cannot meet the heavy tax imposed upon them for text books, particularly if three or more children from one family are attending school. In the township of East Orange the books are furnished free of charge. Of course a higher rate of school tax is imposed to meet the expense. It is a question though, whether that rate exceeds the tax paid in this town by the head of a family when the cost for text books is added to the amount charged against him in the tax levy. The matter is one deserving of investigation.

SCHOOL.
Approaching a Settlement.
Mr. Joseph L. Mann, Counsel for tax collector Mr. A. C. Marr, who for several months past has had under examination the report submitted to the Auditing Committee by expert accountant Stevens, stated to the committee on Monday night that he had completed his labors and submitted a copy of his work to the committee, which was transferred to the Auditing Committee who will meet Mr. Mann, to pass upon his explanations of the items alleged to be unjustly charged against the collector. Mr. Mann made no statements as to the financial result of his work, but it is believed that it will prove entirely satisfactory to all concerned.

Is There an S. P. C. A.
A sympathy for horses is as natural to men as a sympathy for cats to women. It tries a man's blood to see a horse abused, especially at the hands of another fellow besides himself. Horse Car Companies are legitimate and public subjects for argument under this head. It is quite refreshing to hear a man who has been one of fifty impatient passengers who have crowded into a car that comfortably seats twenty, talk about the way the driver abused the overloaded horses. It is his anxiety to get his passengers to their destination as rapidly as possible.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary gave a very pleasant entertainment to the boys on Friday evening of last week.

George Reed was arrested last week for creating a disturbance in the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The library in the association rooms is being overhauled. A lot of useless books will be taken out and new ones put in their places.

The nightly attendance at the rooms is very large. A record of each night's attendance is kept.

A turning pole and other gymnastic appliances have been put in the rear of the Association room.

Nothing is more appropriate as a gift than a book. A remarkable display of Dorringer's American cut glass may be seen at 36 Murray street, New York.

Obituary.

ANSEL G. DARWIN.
Mr. A. G. Darwin, who has for years been one of the most prominent citizens of this town, died at his residence on Ridgewood avenue at half past six o'clock on Thursday morning this week of pneumonia. Mr. Darwin was born at Millville, New York, May 24th, 1827, and the early years of his life were spent in the West where he was prominently connected with different railroad corporations for many years.

Mr. Darwin moved east with his family about the year 1870, and shortly after his coming East took up his residence at Bloomfield, where he resided almost continuously from that time until his death. Probably no man in Bloomfield was better known than Mr. Darwin. He was of tall commanding figure, of gentle temperament and a man of the most intense energy. For a number of years he was identified with the Allen Paper Car Wheel Company and was its first President, and it was due largely to his untiring efforts that that Company achieved its very marked success, and in the service of this Company Mr. Darwin first injured his therefore perfect health.

After his retirement from the presidency of the Allen Paper Car Wheel Company, Mr. Darwin became the President of the Strong Locomotive Company and prominently identified with a number of other industrial corporations, to which he devoted himself with all that zeal and industry which was so characteristic of him.

But Mr. Darwin was better known in Bloomfield by his extensive real estate transactions than in any other way. In 1886 he conceived the idea of making Glen Ridge an attractive and popular suburban settlement, and the six years that have passed bear testimony to his success in that effort, and Glen Ridge, which from the struggling settlement of a few houses which it was in 1886, has become the populous neighborhood that it is, is his best monument.

Mr. Darwin was in addition to being an energetic and indefatigable business man was also known to those who knew him best as a kind friend and neighbor, and devoted husband and father, and while his charities have not been ostentatious they have not been few, and a family could testify to the kind thoughtfulness of the anonymous giver.

Mr. Darwin was one of the founders of the Glen Ridge Club and its President for many years after its organization, until the pressure of other affairs and crises compelled him to resign that position, and that Club undoubtedly owes its success largely to his efforts in its behalf. The erection of the unique and tasteful station at Glen Ridge was due to his influence with the Railroad Company and to his liberal contribution, having spent many thousands of dollars in addition to what the Company furnished.

But it is needless to specify the enterprises in which Mr. Darwin has figured. It is sufficient to say that no movement which has had for its aim the improvement of Glen Ridge has failed of his hearty support, and no man could have been away from that neighborhood whose loss would have been more keenly felt, both by those who knew him well and by the community at large.

Mr. Darwin leaves his wife and two children, and his mother and brother who live in Wisconsin.

Labrador and the Eskimo.

The Eskimo, who are our old geographical friends the "Esquimaux" phonetically spelled, are to be exhibited in their every day clothes and daily occupations in Westmeath Chapel Friday evening, January 29th, by Miss Anna L. Ward. Miss Ward and Miss Hayden undertook a journey to Labrador a few years ago and while they studied the region and inhabitants of that frozen country quietly transferred views and portraits to photographic plates and sketch books.

A few of the views to be shown are as follows: The ship's passengers on rocks in Greedy Harbor; the Good Doctor (in the Captain's Cabin); Grounded Leech; Blubber Cave, Greedy Harbor; Dolls of the Montagnais Indians; Rev. and Mrs. Dam—whose occupation was religious whatever may be thought of their name; three Eskimo girls in European dress; stone grave; Eskimo girls watering plants in garden; house of Jonas and Lydia, the Eskimo aristocrat of Hopeville; Penmanship of Jonas Eskimo and dog team, and many more too numerous to mention, including views of the coast and inland scenery, peculiar forms of icebergs and native costumes and belongings.

Miss Ward has already delivered her lecture before the Women's Club of Waterbury and received very high encomiums in the Waterbury papers; but it is only after much persuasion that she has consented to speak before her friends in Bloomfield publicly, and she has done so solely because of her interest in the welfare of Westmeath.

Her account of a journey through almost unexplored regions, and among such far off foreigners; viewing northern lights and grotesque icebergs, and interviewing Moravian Missionaries and Eskimo cannot fail to possess a novel interest to us in this land of five o'clock teas and farnaces.

"My Daughter's Life"
Was saved by Hood's Sarsaparilla," says Mr. B. B. Jones of Alva, Maine. "She had severe running sores in different places on her body, but on giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla there was marked improvement and now she is well, strong and healthy."

Hood's Pills cure Constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.
